

REGISTERING FOR CLASSES

- Students should see their faculty advisor or the Counseling Center prior to registration to discuss their options. Advisors can also assist students who wish to register online with the selection of classes prior to registering.

If you are already released for online registration, then go to www.hillcollege.edu, go to MyRebel and click on Campus Connect under Quick Links.

- Your admissions file must be complete in order for you to be able to register online. If you are not released to register online, contact the Office of Enrollment Management for information on completing your admissions file. Students in some programs may not be eligible to register online. Please contact the Counseling Center for information on these programs and any testing which might need to be completed before registration.
- Students who are not eligible for online registration need a Time Card for on-campus registration. The time card is your reservation for the day and time to register on-campus. You may call the Office of Enrollment Management if you need further instructions.
